Anas:

Mom, keep your eyes closed—you’re about to see something amazing!

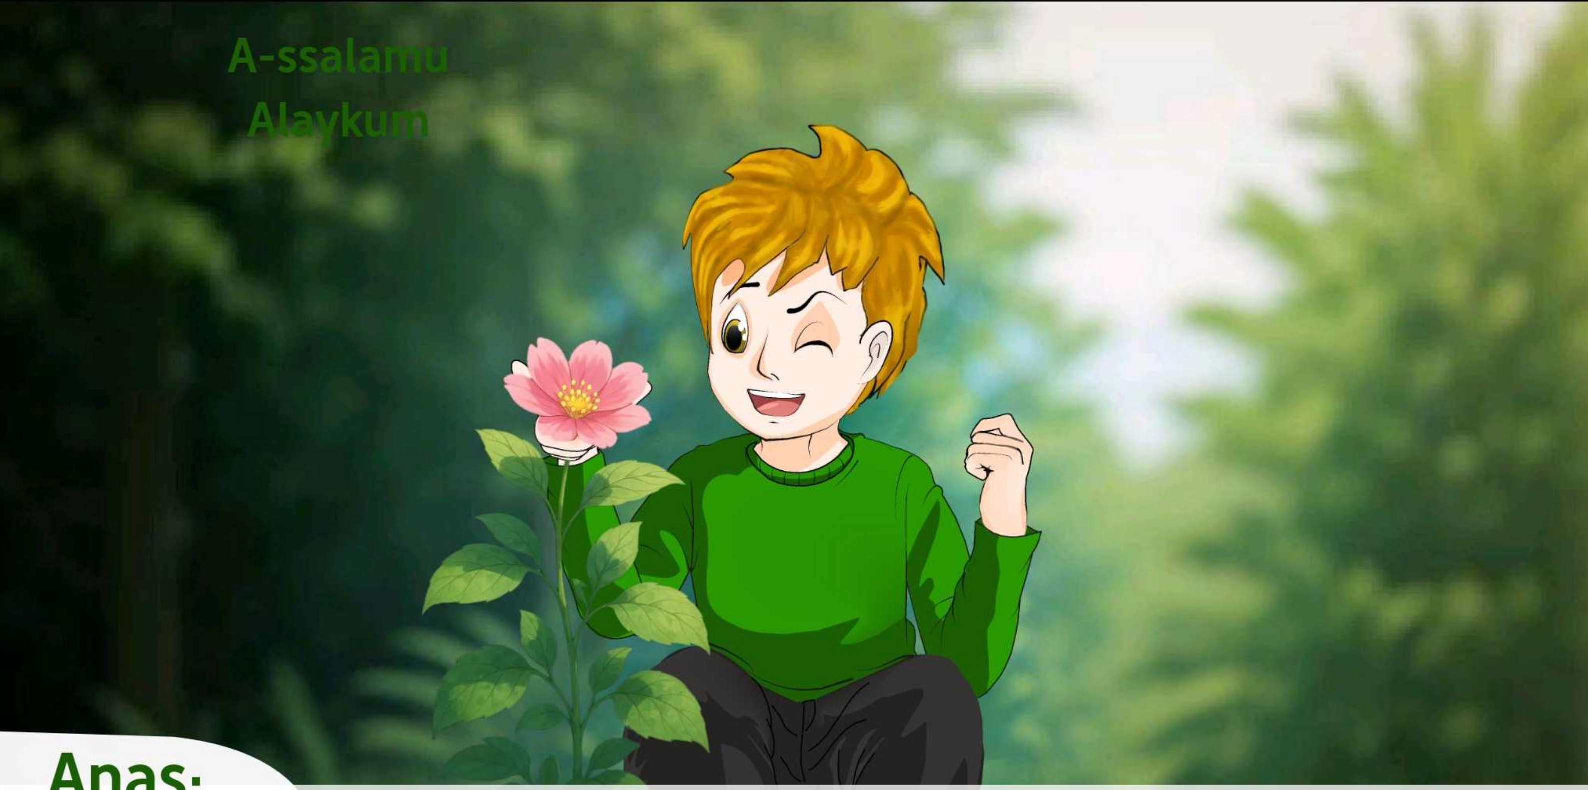

Mom:

I'm so curious to know what it is!

Mom:

Subhan Allah! ... It's beautiful!

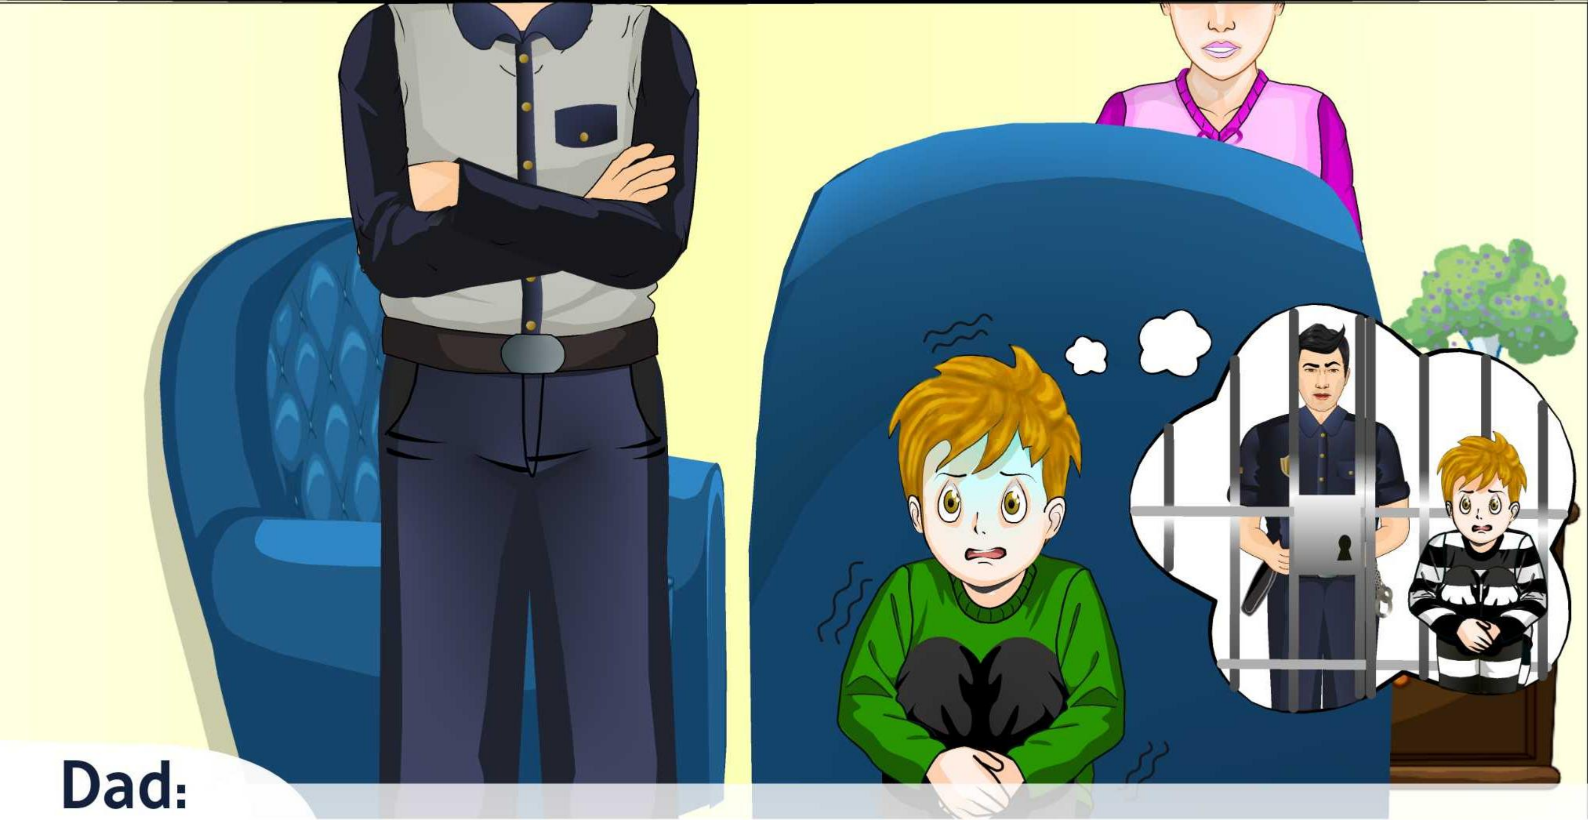

Anas:

Mom, I worked so hard watering it until the flower grew like this.

Mom:

Indeed—Subhan Allah—how lovely it is!

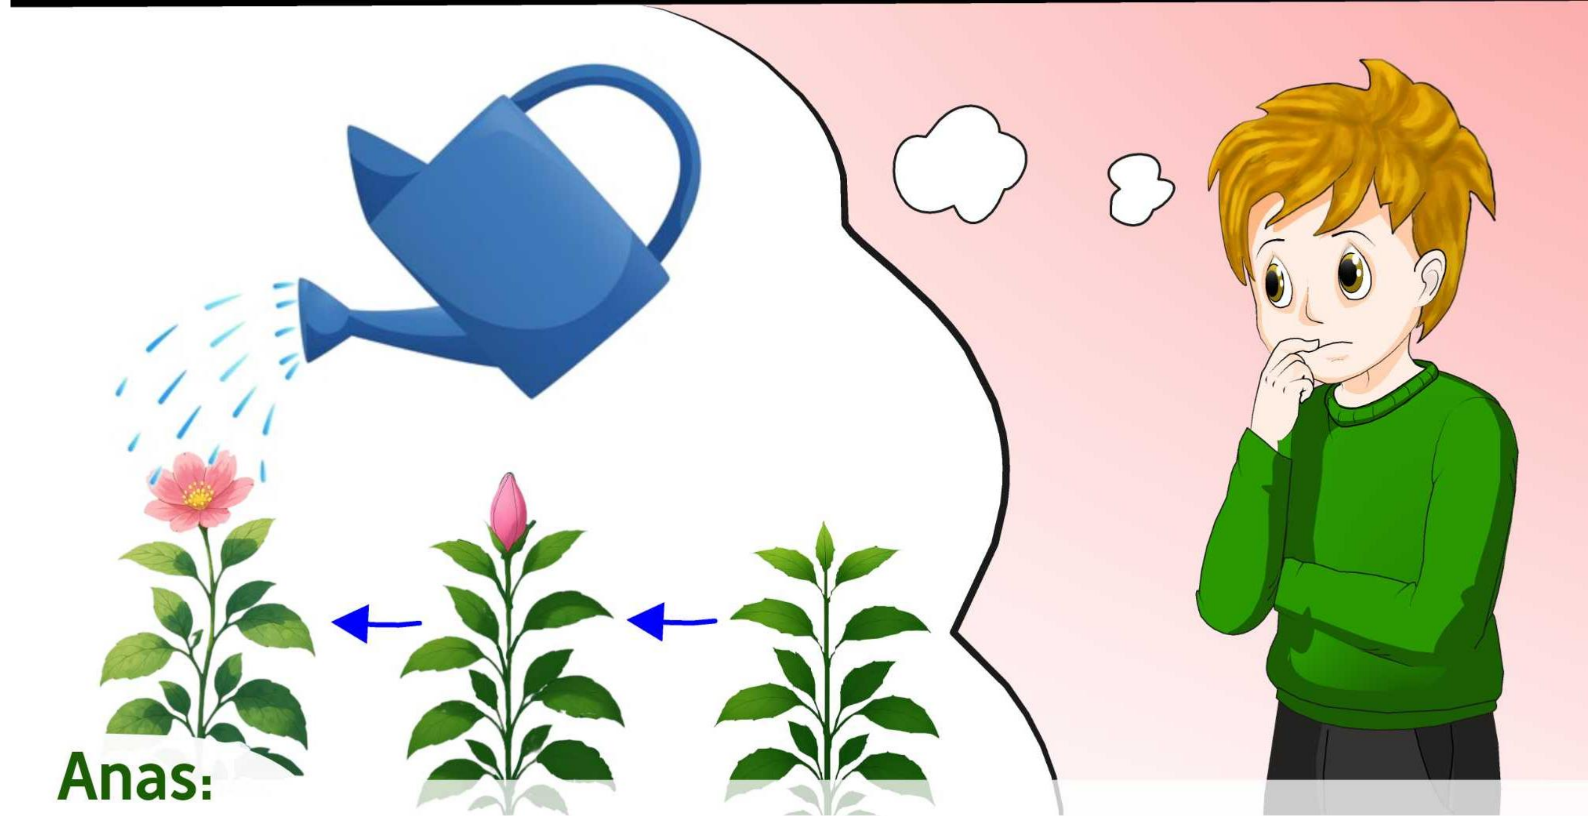

Dad:

Anas is also here.

Mom:

And how did you create that beautiful color and that delicate fuzz?

Anas:

What do you mean?
I watered it—I didn't make it!

Mom:

That's why I say: Subhan Allah—because Allah is the One who made it with such stunning beauty.

Mom:

Even if you poured water on a table -for example- a thousand times, it wouldn't produce a single flower!

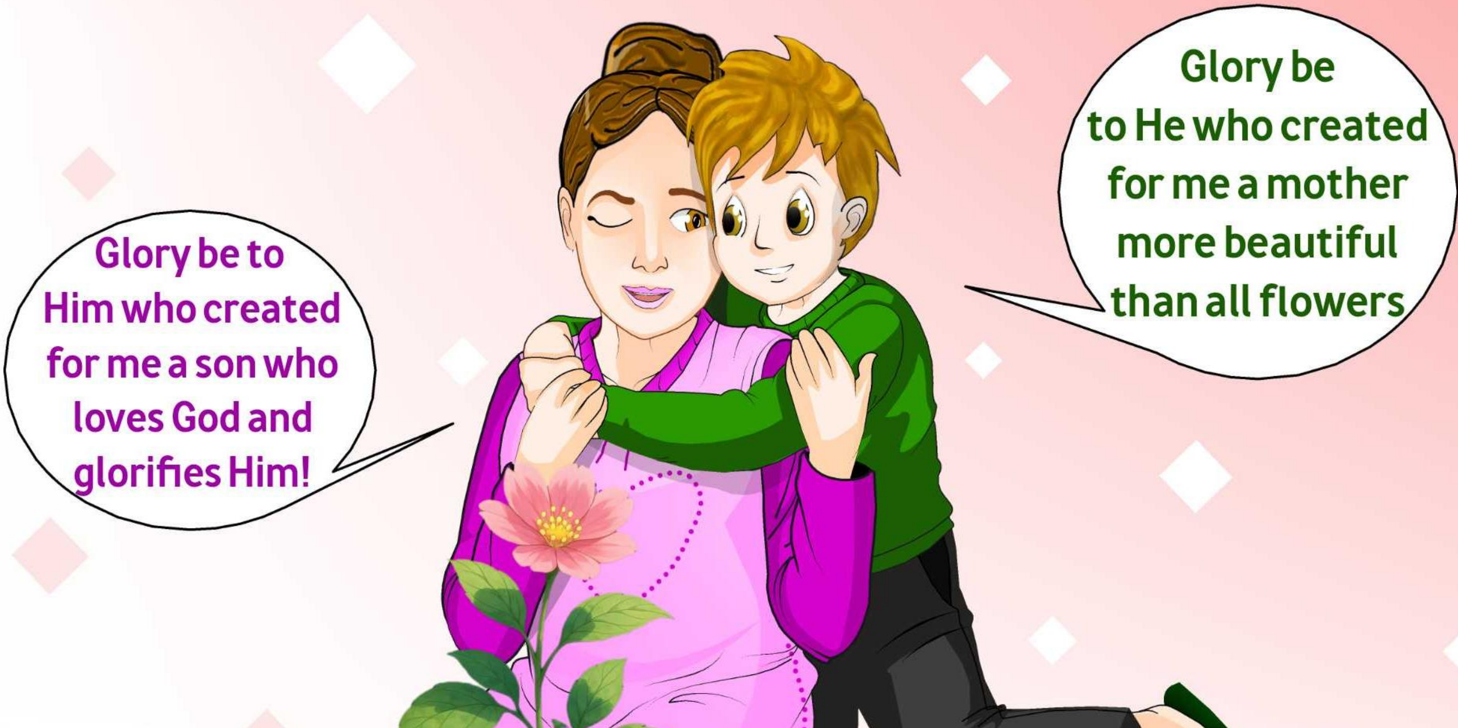

Mom:

Subhan Allah means: there is no one like Allah—He alone can create with such beauty, precision, and greatness!

Anas:

You're right, Mom—Subhan-a Allah!!
